Portfolio Management Services

SilverOak provides continuous advice to a client regarding the investment of client funds based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, we develop a client's personal investment policy and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. We may also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, as well as family composition and background.

We will manage advisory accounts on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis, as agreed with each client. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client (i.e., maximum capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations.

SilverOak will generally create a portfolio consisting of one or more of the following: bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, as well as any other securities as the client may choose. Client portfolio holdings may also include exchange-listed and over-the-counter securities, common and preferred stocks, option contracts on securities, no-load or load-waived mutual funds, exchange traded funds, exchange traded notes, corporate debt securities, United States governmental securities, United States agency securities, certificates of deposit, warrants, commercial paper, and municipal securities. In specific situations, and when appropriate based on individual circumstances, the firm may also utilize other investment options, such as private investments or limited partnerships. Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product, investment type or service.

SilverOak will allocate the client's assets among various investments taking into consideration the overall risk assessment of the client. The mutual funds will be selected on the basis of any or all of the following criteria: the fund's performance history; the asset class in which the fund invests; the track record of the fund's manager; the fund's investment objectives; the fund's management style and philosophy; and the fund's management fee structure. Portfolio weighting between funds and asset classes will be determined by each client's individual needs and circumstances.

Clients will retain individual ownership of all securities. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Use of Sub-Advisers and Third-Party Managers

We may also, when appropriate, sub-advise certain portions of a client portfolio to independent third-party managers or recommend direct investment with independent third-party managers, typically when those managers demonstrate knowledge and expertise in a particular investment strategy.

As part of this service, we perform management searches of various unaffiliated registered investment advisers. Based on a client's individual circumstances and needs, we will determine which selected registered investment adviser's portfolio management style is appropriate for that client. Factors considered in making this determination include account size, risk tolerance, the opinion of each client and the investment philosophy of the selected registered investment adviser. We encourage clients to review each third-party manager's disclosure document regarding the particular characteristics of any program and managers selected by us.

We will regularly and continuously monitor the performance of the selected registered investment adviser(s). If we determine that a particular selected registered investment adviser(s) is not providing sufficient management services to the client, or is not managing the client's portfolio in a manner consistent with the client's investment objectives, we will remove the client's assets from that selected registered investment adviser(s) and place the client's assets with another registered investment adviser(s) at our discretion and without prior consent from the client.

Our firm will conduct appropriate due diligence on all independent third-party managers, making reasonable inquiries into their performance calculations, policies and procedures, Code of Ethics, and other operational and compliance matters deemed important to account performance and risk management.

Schwab Access Program

SilverOak also provides advice through consultations by providing clients access to independent money management firms through the Schwab Access Program offered by Charles Schwab & Company, Inc. (hereinafter "Schwab"), an unaffiliated broker-dealer. The Schwab Access Program is a wrap-fee service arrangement.

Adviser representatives of SilverOak determine the client's investment objectives and risk/return preferences. Based on this information, the SilverOak advisor will assist the client in selecting from the independent investment advisers participating in the Schwab Access Program those advisers whose investment objectives and philosophies are consistent with those of the client. The client will select one or more investment managers, who will manage the client's account on a discretionary basis.

The SilverOak adviser representative will periodically review and update a client's financial circumstances and investment objectives. When appropriate, the SilverOak advisor may recommend the replacement of one investment manager with another and/or the removal/termination of the investment manager(s).

Clients should carefully review the wrap fee program brochure (Form ADV Part 2A, Appendix 1) provided by Schwab and the disclosure document(s) provided by the manager(s) selected by the client for full information on brokerage services.

Schwab Select Program

SilverOak also provides advice through consultations by providing clients access to independent money management firms through the Schwab Select Program offered by Charles Schwab &

Company, Inc. (hereinafter “Schwab”), an unaffiliated broker-dealer. The Schwab Select Program is a wrap-fee service arrangement.

Adviser representatives of SilverOak determine the client's investment objectives and risk/return preferences. In addition, ongoing research and review is conducted by Charles Schwab Investment Advisory, Inc. (hereinafter “CSIA”), an affiliate of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. CSIA evaluates the money managers for initial inclusion in the Schwab Select Program and provides ongoing monitoring of these managers.

Clients should carefully review the wrap fee program brochure (Form ADV Part 2A, Appendix 1) provided by Schwab and the disclosure document(s) provided by the manager(s) selected by the client for full information on brokerage services.

Tax Qualified Employee Benefit Services

SilverOak provides tax qualified employee benefit services through the Vanguard Group, Inc. (hereinafter Vanguard) and/or other service providers. SilverOak will refer tax qualified employee benefit plans to Vanguard and/or other service providers for trust, custodial or other fiduciary relationships. Clients will independently contract with Vanguard and/or other service providers for such services. SilverOak will continue to provide various services to plans including analysis of collective fund requirements, reviews of collective fund reports, and assistance with the completion of required documentation.

SilverOak may assist clients in determining the client's investment needs and goals and preparing a written investment policy statement (hereinafter IPS) stating those needs and goals and encompassing a policy under which these goals are to be achieved. The IPS may also list the criteria for selection of investment vehicles and the procedures and timing interval for monitoring of investment performance. SilverOak will also review various investments for clients. SilverOak will not be involved in any way with effecting purchases or sales of investments for 401(k) plans. SilverOak may supervise the client's portfolio and make recommendations to the client as market factors and the client's needs dictate.

SilverOak will provide due diligence monitoring for these clients.

Pension Consulting Services

SilverOak provides advisory services (as detailed below) separately or in combination for Pension Consulting clients. While the primary clients for these services will be pension, profit sharing and 401(k) plans, SilverOak will also offer these services, where appropriate, to individuals and trusts, estates and charitable organizations. Pension Consulting Services are comprised of four distinct services.

Clients may choose to engage SilverOak for any combination of the services below:

- a) Investment Policy Statement Preparation: SilverOak will meet with the client (in person or over the telephone) to determine the client's investment needs and goals. SilverOak will then prepare a written IPS stating those needs and goals and encompassing a policy under which these goals are to be achieved. The IPS will also list the criteria for selection of investment vehicles and the procedures and timing interval for monitoring of investment performance.
- b) Selection of Investment Vehicles: SilverOak will review various investments, consisting of mutual funds (both index and managed), exchange-traded funds, individual equities, and bonds determined appropriate to implement the client's IPS. The number of investments to be recommended will be determined by the client, based on the Investment Policy Statement.
- c) Investment Performance Monitoring: Client investments will be monitored continuously based on the procedures and timing intervals delineated in the Investment Policy Statement. SilverOak will supervise the client's portfolio and will make recommendations to the client as market factors and the client's needs dictate. SilverOak will not be involved in any way with effecting purchases or sales of investments for 401(k) plans.
- d) Employee Communications: For pension, profit sharing and 401(k) plan clients wherein there are individual accounts with participants exercising control over assets in their own account ("self-directed plans"), SilverOak also may provide quarterly educational support and investment workshops designed for the Plan participants. The nature of the topics to be covered will be determined by SilverOak and the client under the guidelines established in ERISA Section 404(c).

Financial Education Workshops

Employers may engage SilverOak to develop and execute financial educational workshops designed for their respective employees. Workshops may include educational presentations related to financial planning, retirement planning, investment planning, insurance planning, and estate planning. In addition, SilverOak may tailor workshops to address topics requested by the employer.

SilverOak may provide information regarding employer benefits. These benefits may include (but are not limited to): 401(k) plans, pension plans, company-provided life and death and disability insurance, and severance packages. All company specific information will be reviewed by the engaging employer to assure accuracy and completeness. SilverOak does not represent itself as having analyzed the appropriateness of the company benefits and/or structure of the benefit packages.

Generally, SilverOak's financial educational workshops are provided on an impersonal basis in a workshop format. As such, information provided at these workshops does not purport to take into account specific needs or circumstances of any particular employee and is general in nature. On occasion, SilverOak may offer individual follow-up consulting sessions with particular employees. Such service will be contracted and executed by SilverOak under its general consulting service described below. In these situations, the employee(s) will contract directly with SilverOak for said services. Under certain circumstances, SilverOak may enter into these arrangements whereby an employer engages SilverOak's consulting services on behalf of the employee. In these situations, SilverOak considers the employee to be an advisory client. Under this type of fee arrangement, the employee should understand that SilverOak's receipt of the advisory fee paid by the employer may create a conflict of interest. While SilverOak endeavors at all times to put the interest of the clients first as part of its fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that SilverOak's receipt of the advisory fee paid by the employer may create a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of SilverOak's advisors when making recommendations.

Financial Planning Services

SilverOak provides financial planning and counseling services to advisory clients. Clients engaged in this service will receive a written report, providing the client with a detailed financial plan designed to take into account the individual circumstances or goals and objectives of each client.

Financial planning is a comprehensive evaluation of a client's current and future financial state by using currently known variables to predict future cash flows, asset values and withdrawal plans. The key defining aspect of financial planning is that through the financial planning process, all questions, information and analysis will be considered as they impact and are impacted by the entire financial and life situation of the client. Clients purchasing this service will receive a written report, providing the client with a detailed financial plan designed to achieve his or her stated financial goals and objectives.

In general, the financial planning process may address some or all of the following areas:

- a) Personal: Family records, budgeting, personal liability, estate information and financial goals.
- b) Tax & Cash Flow: Income tax and spending analysis and planning for past, current and future years. SilverOak may illustrate the impact of various investments on a client's current income tax and future tax liability.
- c) Death, Disability, Long-Term Care, Property and Casualty: Cash needs at death, income needs of surviving dependents, estate planning, disability income analysis, long-term care needs, and property and casualty analysis.
- d) Retirement: Analysis of current and alternative strategies and investment plans to help the client achieve his or her retirement goals.
- e) Investments: Analysis of investment alternatives and their effect on a client's portfolio.
- f) Estate Planning: Analysis of current and alternative strategies and investment plans to help the client achieve his or her estate planning goals.

SilverOak gathers required information through in-depth personal interviews. Information gathered includes a client's current financial status, future goals and attitudes towards risk. Related documents supplied by the client are carefully reviewed, including a questionnaire completed by the client, and a written report is prepared.

Should a client choose to implement the recommendations contained in the plan, SilverOak suggests the client work closely with his/her attorney, accountant, insurance agent, and/or stockbroker.

Implementation of financial planning recommendations is entirely at the client's discretion. Financial planning recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company. SilverOak may provide various personal finance and tax related publications in print form or by audio delivery or other means.

In performing its services, SilverOak shall not be required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals, and is expressly authorized to rely thereon. If requested by the client, we shall recommend the services of other professionals for implementation purposes, including the services of the SilverOak's Principals and/or Associated Persons, in their individual capacities, as certified public accountants. The client is under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from SilverOak.

Typically, the financial plan will be presented to the client within six months of the contract date, provided that all information needed to prepare the financial plan has been promptly provided by the client.

Consulting Services

Clients can also receive investment advice on a more limited basis. This may include advice on only an isolated area(s) of concern such as estate planning, retirement planning, reviewing a client's existing portfolio, or any other specific topic. SilverOak also provides specific consultation and administrative services regarding investment and financial concerns of the client, including (but not limited to) executive counseling and survivorship counseling.

Additionally, SilverOak provides advice on non-securities matters. Generally, this is in connection with the rendering of estate planning, insurance, and/or other general financial planning.

As disclosed above, SilverOak may offer individual follow-up consulting sessions with particular employees who participated in SilverOak's financial education workshops. In these situations, the employee(s) will contract directly with SilverOak for said services. Under certain circumstances, SilverOak may enter into these arrangements whereby an employer engages SilverOak's consulting services on behalf of the employee. In these situations, SilverOak considers the employee to be an advisory client. Under this type of fee arrangement, the employee should understand that SilverOak's receipt of the advisory fee paid by the employer may create a conflict of interest. While SilverOak endeavors at all times to put the interest of the clients first as part of its fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that SilverOak's receipt of the advisory fee paid by the employer may create a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of SilverOak's representatives when making recommendations.

Tax Preparation Services

SilverOak may provide tax preparation services to current ongoing investment advisory clients upon mutual agreement with the client. These services may include, but are not limited to, federal and state tax preparation and filing, gift tax preparation and filing, and various other tax related items. No

Fees in General

Negotiability of Advisory Fees and Minimum Requirements: In certain circumstances, all fees and account minimums may be negotiable. Fees and account minimums for all services are negotiable based upon certain criteria (i.e. anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, negotiations with client, competitive considerations, etc.). For new advisory accounts, management fees will be pro-rated based on the number of days that the account was open during the quarter. We may group certain related client accounts for the purposes of determining the account size and/or annualized fee.

Fee Calculation: The fee charged is calculated as described above and is not charged on the basis of a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of an advisory client (Section 205(a)(1) of the Advisers Act).

Termination of Advisory Relationship: A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of 30 days written notice. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. The client has the right to terminate an agreement without penalty within five business days after entering into the agreement.

Mutual Fund and ETF Fees and Expenses: All fees paid to our firm for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. A client could invest in a mutual fund or an ETF directly, without the services of our firm. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by us which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds or ETFs are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and ETFs and the fees charged by us to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Brokerage and Custodial Fees: In addition to advisory fees paid to our firm, clients will also be responsible for all transaction, brokerage, and custodial fees incurred as part of their account management (except those clients participating in the Schwab wrap-fee programs described below). Please see Item 12 of this Brochure for important disclosures regarding our brokerage practices.

Wrap Fees in General: In some instances SilverOak offers the services of the Schwab wrap-fee programs. Under such arrangements, SilverOak monitors and evaluates the selected managers' performance, the selected manager executes the client's portfolio transactions without commission charge, and custodial services are provided for the client's assets, all for a single fee paid by the client to the broker-dealer sponsoring the wrap-program. However, in evaluating such an arrangement, a client should recognize that brokerage commissions for the execution of transactions in the client's account are not negotiated by SilverOak or the selected manager. Transactions are effected 'net,' i.e., without commission, and a portion of the wrap-fee is generally considered as being in lieu of commissions. Trades are generally expected to be executed only with the broker-dealer sponsoring the wrap-fee program. As such, neither SilverOak, nor the selected manager will seek best price and execution by placing transactions with other broker-dealers. It is SilverOak's experience that certain broker-dealers under clients' wrap-fee agreements generally can offer best price for transactions in listed equity securities, but, no assurance can be given that such will continue to be the case with those or other broker-dealers which may offer wrap-fee arrangements, nor with respect to transactions in other types of securities.

Accordingly, the client may wish to satisfy himself that the broker-dealer offering the wrap-fee arrangement can provide adequate price and execution of most or all transactions. The client should also consider that, depending upon the level of the wrap-fee charged by the broker-dealer, the amount of portfolio activity in the client's account, the value of custodial and other services which are provided under the arrangement, and other factors, the wrap-fee may or may not exceed the aggregate cost of such services if they were to be provided separately and if SilverOak and/or the selected manager were free to negotiate commissions and seek best price and execution of transactions for the client's account. Clients should understand that SilverOak is neither a sponsor of, nor a portfolio manager in, any wrap-fee program it recommends to our clients.

Third-Party Money Manager Fees: Our fee is in addition to the fees charged by selected third-party investment advisers for the portion of the client's account under each adviser's direct management. Clients should refer to the selected registered investment adviser's disclosure document (Part 2 of Form ADV or other disclosure document in lieu of Part 2) for information regarding the advisory fees charged.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not charge any fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client.

Item 7. Types of Clients

Our firm generally provides advisory services to individuals, pension and profit sharing plans, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and other business entities.

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our firm employs the following types of analysis to formulate client recommendations:

Mutual fund and/or ETF analysis: We look at the experience and track record of the manager of the mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We also look at the underlying assets in a mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if there is significant overlap in the underlying investments held in other funds in the client's portfolio. We also monitor the funds or ETFs in an attempt to determine if they are continuing to follow their stated investment strategy.

A risk of mutual fund and/or ETF analysis is that, as in all securities investments, past performance does not guarantee future results. A manager who has been successful may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a fund or ETF, managers of different funds held by the client may purchase the same security, increasing the risk to the client if that security were to fall in value. There is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the fund or ETF, which could make the fund or ETF less suitable of the client's portfolio.

Third-Party Manager Analysis: We examine the experience, expertise, investment philosophies, and past performance of independent third-party investment managers in an attempt to determine if that manager has demonstrated an ability to invest over a period of time and in different economic conditions. We monitor the manager's underlying holdings, strategies, concentrations and leverage as part of our overall periodic risk assessment. Additionally, as part of our due-diligence process, we survey the manager's compliance and business enterprise risks.

A risk of investing with a third-party manager who has been successful in the past is that he/she may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a third-party manager's portfolio, there is also a risk that a manager may deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the portfolio, making it a less suitable investment for our clients. Moreover, as we do not control the manager's daily business and compliance operations, it is possible for us to miss the absence of internal controls necessary to prevent business, regulatory or reputational deficiencies.

In addition, our firm may also employ the following types of analysis to formulate client recommendations:

Fundamental Analysis: Fundamental analysis of a business involves analyzing its income statement, financial statements and health, its management and competitive advantages, and its competitors and markets. Fundamental analysis school of thought maintains that markets may mis-price a security in the short run but that the "correct" price will eventually be reached. Profits can be made by trading the mis-priced security and then waiting for the market to recognize its "mistake" and re-price the security. However, fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock. Therefore, unforeseen market conditions and/or company developments may result in significant price fluctuations that can lead to investor losses.

Technical analysis. We analyze past market movements and apply that analysis to the present in an attempt to recognize recurring patterns of investor behavior and to potentially predict future price movement.

Cyclical analysis: In this type of technical analysis, we measure the movements of a particular stock against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security.

Charting: In this type of technical analysis, we review charts of market and security activity in an attempt to identify when the market is moving up or down and to predict when how long the trend may last and when that trend might reverse.

Technical analysis does not consider the underlying financial condition of a company. This presents a risk in that a poorly-managed or financially unsound company may underperform regardless of market movement.

Risks for all forms of analysis: Our securities analysis method relies on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are not aware of incorrect data, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

Our firm employs the following investment strategies to implement investment advice given to clients:

Long-term purchases: We mostly purchase securities with the idea of holding them in the clients account for a year or longer. We may do this because we believe the securities to be currently undervalued. We may also do this because we want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class.

A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that, by holding the security for this length of time, we may not take advantages of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

Short-term purchases: At times, we may also purchase securities with the idea of selling them within a relatively short time (typically a year or less). We do this in an attempt to take advantage of conditions that we believe will soon result in a price swing in the securities we purchase.

A risk in a short-term purchase strategy is that, should the anticipated price swing not materialize, we are left with the option of having a long-term investment in a security that was designed to be a short-term purchase, or potentially taking a loss. In addition, this strategy involves more frequent trading than does a longer-term strategy, and will result in increased brokerage and other transaction-related costs, as well as less favorable tax treatment of short-term capital gains.

Clients should understand that investing in any securities, including mutual funds, involves a risk of loss of both income and principal.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

Our firm has no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Certain Members and/or employees of SilverOak are also licensed, practicing CPAs. SilverOak may provide tax preparation services to current ongoing investment advisory clients upon mutual agreement with the client. These services may include, but are not limited to, federal and state tax preparation and filing, gift tax preparation and filing, and various other tax related items. No advisory client of SilverOak is obligated to use the tax preparation services of SilverOak and can terminate the tax preparation services agreement at any time with notice.

While SilverOak and its employees endeavor at all times to put the interest of the clients first as part of SilverOak's fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt of additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of these individuals when making recommendations. Potential conflicts of interest also arise to the extent that these non-advisory activities may require a significant time commitment.

We endeavor at all times to put the interest of our clients first as part of our fiduciary duty as a registered investment adviser and take the following steps to address these conflicts:

- 1) We disclose to clients the existence of all material conflicts of interest, including the potential for our firm and its employees to earn compensation from advisory clients in addition to our advisory fees;
- 2) We disclose to clients that they are not obligated to these additional non-advisory activities from our employees;
- 3) We require that our employees seek prior approval of any outside employment activity so that we may ensure that any conflicts of interests in such activities are properly addressed;
- 4) We periodically monitor these outside employment activities to verify that any conflicts of interest continue to be properly addressed by our firm; and
- 5) We educate our employees regarding the responsibilities of a fiduciary, including the need for having a reasonable and independent basis for the investment advice provided to clients.

Item 11. Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions and Personal Trading SilverOak has adopted a Code of Ethics that sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct that SilverOak requires of its employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws.

SilverOak's Code of Ethics also includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by SilverOak's covered persons. Among other things, SilverOak's Code of Ethics also requires the prior approval of any acquisition of securities in a limited offering (e.g., private placement) or an initial public offering. SilverOak's code also includes oversight, enforcement and recordkeeping provisions.

A copy of SilverOak's Code of Ethics is available to SilverOak's advisory clients and prospective advisory clients upon request to the Chief Compliance Officer at SilverOak's principal office address.

SilverOak or individuals associated with SilverOak may buy or sell securities identical to, or different than, those recommended to customers for their personal accounts. In addition, any related person(s) may have an interest or position in a certain security(ies) which may also be recommended to a client.

It is the express policy of SilverOak that no person employed by SilverOak may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account, and therefore, preventing such employees from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts. It is SilverOak's policy to not allow this practice as it would result in a potential conflict of interest, as we may have an incentive to manipulate the timing of such purchases to obtain a better price or more favorable allocation in rare cases of limited availability. We may aggregate our employee trades with client trades. In case there is a partial fill of a particular batch order, we will allocate all the purchases pro-rata, with each account paying average price.

As these situations represent a conflict of interest, SilverOak has established the following restrictions in order to ensure its fiduciary responsibilities:

- 1) Members, officers, and/or employees of SilverOak shall not buy or sell securities for their personal portfolio(s) where their decision is substantially derived, in whole or in part, by reason of his or her employment unless the information is also available to the investing public on reasonable inquiry. No person of SilverOak shall prefer his or her own interest to that of the advisory client.
- 2) SilverOak maintains a list of all securities holdings for itself, and anyone associated with this advisory practice with access to advisory recommendations. These holdings are reviewed on a regular basis by one or more of SilverOak's members and/or officers.
- 3) SilverOak emphasizes the unrestricted right of the client to decline to implement any advice rendered.
- 4) SilverOak requires that all individuals must act in accordance with all applicable federal and state regulations governing registered investment advisory practices.
- 5) Any individual not in observance of the above may be subject to termination.

In accordance with Section 204A of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, we also maintain and enforce written policies reasonably designed to prevent the misuse of material non-public information by SilverOak or any person associated with SilverOak.

Item 12. Brokerage Practices

For bond portions of advisory client portfolios only: For bond portions of client portfolios, SilverOak requests that it be provided with written authority to determine the broker-dealer to use for client transactions and the commission costs that will be charged to our clients for these transactions. Any limitations on this discretionary authority shall be included in this written authority statement. Clients may change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments shall be submitted in writing.

SilverOak will endeavor to select those brokers-dealers which will provide the best services at the lowest commission rates possible. Under certain circumstances, SilverOak may select a "Prime Broker" for client accounts through which SilverOak will execute the majority of client bond transactions. The reasonableness of commissions are based on the broker's ability to provide professional services, competitive commission rates, research and other services which will help SilverOak in providing investment management services to clients. SilverOak will not accept any "soft dollar" services from selected broker-dealers in relation to the bond portions of the advisory client's portfolio.

For equity portions of advisory client portfolios only: SilverOak does not have the discretionary authority to determine the broker-dealer to be used or the commission rates to be paid for equity portions of advisory client portfolios, clients must direct SilverOak as to the broker-dealer to be used for equity portions of their portfolios. In directing the use of a particular broker-dealer, it should be understood that SilverOak will not have authority to negotiate commissions or obtain volume discounts, and best execution may not be achieved. In addition, a disparity in commission charges may exist between the commissions charged to other clients.

Clients should note that SilverOak frequently recommends the Schwab Institutional division of Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a FINRA registered broker-dealer, member SIPC, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. Although we recommend that clients establish accounts at Schwab, it is the client's decision to custody assets with Schwab. SilverOak is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab.

For clients in need of brokerage or custodial services, and depending on client circumstances and needs, SilverOak may recommend the use of one of several broker-dealers (including but not limited to Schwab), provided that such recommendation is consistent with SilverOak's fiduciary duty to the client. SilverOak clients should evaluate these brokers (including Schwab) independently before opening an account. The factors considered by SilverOak when making these recommendations are the broker's ability to provide professional services, SilverOak's experience with the broker, the broker's reputation, and the broker's quality of execution services and costs of such services, among other factors.

We do not have any formal soft-dollar arrangements and do not contract with any broker-dealer to receive soft-dollar benefits. This means that we do not receive research or gain access to industry analysts or conferences in return for paying higher commissions for client trades to a particular broker dealer.

Schwab provides SilverOak with access to its institutional trading and custody services, which are typically not available to Schwab retail investors. These services generally are available to independent investment advisers on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them so long as a total of at least $10 million of the adviser's clients' assets are maintained in accounts at Schwab Institutional. These services are not contingent upon our firm committing to Schwab any specific amount of business (assets in custody or trading commissions). Schwab's brokerage services include the execution of securities transactions, qualified custodian, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

For our client accounts maintained in its custody, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by account holders through commissions and other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades that are executed through Schwab or that settle into Schwab accounts.

Schwab Institutional also makes available to our firm other products and services that benefit SilverOak but may not directly benefit our clients' accounts. Many of these products and services may be used to service all or some substantial number of our client accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab.

Schwab's products and services that assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts include software and other technology that:

- a) provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements);
- b) facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts;
- c) provide research, pricing and other market data;
- d) facilitate payment of our fees from clients' accounts; and
- e) assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting.

Schwab Institutional also offers other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services may include:

- a) compliance, legal and business consulting;
- b) publications and conferences on practice management and business succession; and
- c) access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers.

Schwab may make available, arrange and/or pay third-party vendors for the types of services rendered to SilverOak. Schwab Institutional may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services or pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to our firm. Schwab Institutional may also provide other benefits such as educational events or occasional business entertainment of our personnel. In evaluating whether to recommend or require that clients custody their assets at Schwab, we may take into account the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements as part of the total mix of factors we consider and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by Schwab, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

SilverOak will block trades where possible and when advantageous to clients. This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple clients' accounts so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in any such block. Block trading allows SilverOak to execute equity trades in a timelier, equitable manner and may reduce overall commission charges to clients. However, block trades are only possible where all clients participating in a block trade execute through the same broker-dealer. As a matter of policy, SilverOak does not include personal trades of associated individuals in client block trades.

A condition of participation in the Schwab Access Program is that all clients must use a broker-dealer authorized to participate in this program by Schwab for brokerage and clearing of trades. Please refer to Schwab's wrap fee program brochure and the disclosure document(s) of the investment manager(s) used in this program for information on brokerage practices.

A condition of participation in the Schwab Select Program is that all clients must use a broker-dealer authorized to participate in this program by Schwab for brokerage and clearing of trades. Please refer to Schwab's wrap fee program brochure and the disclosure document(s) of the investment manager(s) used in this program for information on brokerage practices.

SilverOak's clients who do not engage the firm to provide portfolio management services or who do not participate in any of the wrap fee programs listed above will be required to select their own broker-dealers and insurance companies for the implementation of advisory recommendations. SilverOak may recommend any one of several brokers (including but not limited to Vanguard, exclusively for tax qualified employee benefit services clients, and Schwab). SilverOak's clients must independently evaluate these brokers before opening an account. The factors considered by SilverOak when making this recommendation are the broker's ability to provide professional services, SilverOak's experience with the broker, the broker's reputation, and the broker's financial strength, among other factors. SilverOak's tax qualified employee benefit services clients may use any broker-dealer of their choice.

Item 14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

SilverOak does not currently have any third party referral arrangements. If a client is introduced to our firm by either an unaffiliated or an affiliated solicitor, we may pay that solicitor a referral fee in accordance with the requirements of Rule 206(4) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, and any corresponding state securities law requirements. Any such referral fee shall be paid solely from SilverOak's investment management fee, and shall not result in any additional charge to the client.

Item 15. Custody

All client assets managed by SilverOak are held at independent, qualified custodians.

Custody is defined as any legal or actual ability by SilverOak to control or access client funds or securities. Qualified Custodians under the SEC definition, typically include financial institutions such as banks, registered broker-dealers, certain SEC registered investment advisers, etc. A qualified custodian either maintains client funds and securities in a separate account for each client under that client's name or in accounts that contain only client funds and securities under the name of the investment adviser as agent or trustee for the clients.

Under government regulations, SilverOak is deemed to have custody of client assets if a client authorizes us to instruct their qualified custodian to deduct advisory fees directly from their account. SilverOak may also be deemed to have custody when a client provides SilverOak with their user name and password information to access accounts directly on the custodian's website. Access to these accounts is used by SilverOak to proactively download up-to-date information utilized in compiling net worth statements, portfolio analysis and other client reports. In some cases, we also utilize this access to implement investment recommendations and/or beneficiary updates once approved by client.

For the accounts that we are deemed to have custody, SilverOak will undergo an annual surprise examination where an independent public accountant will take a sampling of accounts SilverOak is deemed to have custody of and they will verify these assets directly with the client's custodian. In situations where the custodian does not respond directly to the request, the independent public accountant will reach out to the client directly to confirm the client's assets in the account.

In addition, the qualified custodian will send to the client directly monthly or quarterly account statements to their address of record or via electronic delivery directly from the custodian where these assets are held. SilverOak urges our clients to carefully review these custodial statements and compare them to reports they receive from SilverOak. SilverOak reports may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates and/or valuation methodologies of certain securities. If any discrepancy is noticed, the client is urged to notify SilverOak and/or the custodian as soon as possible.

Per SEC guidance, SilverOak is also deemed to have custody if SilverOak has authorization for certain first party and third party money movement transactions with a standing letter of authorization (SLOA) signed and authorized by the client. "Third-party" money movement is written client authorization which allows an advisor to disburse funds on behalf of the client to third parties. SilverOak may have this limited authority to help our clients pay recurring expenses, for example. This arrangement does not allow SilverOak to change the third party payee or address. SilverOak is only allowed to change the amount and timing of these withdrawals. However, although the SEC has deemed SilverOak to have custody over these accounts, if the advisor and qualified custodian meet certain conditions/circumstances to protect client assets as specified by the SEC, SilverOak will not be subject to the annual surprise accountant's examination requirement of the Custody Rule for these accounts.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

For clients granting us discretionary authority to determine which securities and the amounts of securities that are to be bought or sold for their account(s), we request that such authority be granted in writing, typically in the executed advisory agreement.

Should the client wish to impose reasonable limitations on this discretionary authority, such limitations shall be included in this written authority statement. Clients may change/amend these limitations as desired. Such amendments must be submitted to us by the client in writing.

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy, we do not vote proxies on behalf of clients (except for accounts that are actively managed by third-party investment advisers engaged by SilverOak, the proxies pertaining to which accounts may be voted by the third-party advisers). Therefore, although our firm may provide investment advisory services relative to client investment assets, clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type of events pertaining to the client's investment assets. Therefore (except for accounts that are actively managed by third-party advisers engaged by our firm), clients are responsible for instructing each custodian of the assets to forward to the client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the client's investment assets. We do, however, offer consulting assistance regarding proxy issues to clients if such assistance is sought by a client.

We will neither advise nor act on behalf of the client in legal proceedings involving companies whose securities are held in the client's account(s), including, but not limited to, the filing of "Proofs of Claim" in class action settlements. If desired, clients may direct us to transmit copies of class action notices to the client or a third party. Upon such direction, we will make commercially reasonable efforts to forward such notices in a timely manner.

Item 18. Financial Information

SilverOak does not require prepayment of fees in excess of $1,200 more than six months in advance of services rendered.

As an advisory firm that maintains discretionary authority for client accounts, we are also required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonable likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations. SilverOak has no additional financial circumstances to report.
